- ❑ Kind of technologies are used. We use a variety of other tracking technologies. Cookies are small text files which are placed on your device (such as computer or smart phone) when you visit our Site. Cookies store certain settings and data for exchange with our system via your browser. A cookie usually contains the name of the domain from which the cookie has been placed, as well as information about the age of the cookie and a random alphanumeric identifier, the so-called cookie-ID. They help to recognize the device and make any pre-settings immediately available. Web beacons are small graphical images that may be included on our Sites and typically work in conjunction with cookies to identify our users and user behavior. An embedded script is programming code that is designed to collect information about your interactions with the Site, such as the links you click on. The code is temporarily downloaded onto your computer or device from our web server or a third-party service provider, is active only while you are connected to the Site and is deactivated or deleted thereafter. Flash cookies are pieces of data that websites which use Adobe Flash may store on a user's computer or device. Third parties with whom we partner to provide certain features on our Sites or to display advertising based upon your web browsing activity use Flash cookies. We will also inform you of the use of cookies and similar technologies via so-called cookie banners and seek to obtain consent in this respect if required by law.
- ❑ What information we collect. In this context, we may collect certain information about you, such as browser and device information (e.g., device type, screen resolution, operating system version, and Internet browser type and version), actions taken on the Site (such as links you click on the Site, webpages you view on the Site, downloads), IP address and traffic patterns (such as referring URL, length of time you visit our Site, information on how you move through the Site). To the extent tracking technology is embedded in emails, we may also collect information on the interaction with the email (e.g., if you opened the email or used a link). We may also collect information about how you use and interact with the Site. For example, we may collect server log files, usage reports for tracking the total number of visitors to our website, the number of visitors to each page of our website, IP addresses, and the domain names of our users' Internet Service Providers.
- ❑ Purposes of use. We use this information to facilitate your ongoing access to and use of the Site, present you with more tailored information about our products and services, collect and store information about your use of the Site, determine usage levels, activity, and trends for the Site, understand more about the demographics of our users and conduct further data analysis, diagnose server problems, and operate and maintain the Site.
 - ❑ We may also work with third-party partners to employ technologies, including the application of statistical modelling tools, which allow us to recognize and contact you across multiple devices. We and our third-party partners also use this information to make the advertisements you see online more relevant to your interests (including advertisement you see regarding our products on other websites), as well as to provide advertising-related services such as reporting, attribution, analytics, and market research.

- ☐ We use or may use the data collected through tracking technologies to: (a) remember information so that you will not have to re-enter it during your visit or the next time you visit the Site; (b) provide custom, personalized content and information, including targeted content and advertising; (c) recognize and contact you across multiple devices; (d) provide and monitor the effectiveness of our Site; (e) monitor aggregate metrics such as total number of visitors, traffic, usage, and demographic patterns on our Site; (f) diagnose or fix technology problems; and (g) otherwise to plan for and enhance our Site and service. We may also receive aggregated reports based on such data to analyze the use of our Site and understand the needs of our customers.
- ☐ Legal basis for the EU. The legal bases for such processing in the EU are consent, legitimate business interest, and performance of contract.
- ☐ How to avoid tracking technology and consequences of avoidance. If you prefer not to accept cookies, most browsers will allow you to: (i) change your browser settings to notify you when you receive a cookie, which lets you choose whether or not to accept it; (ii) disable existing cookies; or (iii) set your browser to automatically reject cookies. Please check your browser and browser settings to determine where cookies are stored and whether and how they can be deleted. The help portion of the toolbar on most browsers will tell you how to prevent your browser from accepting new cookies, how to have the browser notify you when you receive a new cookie, or how to disable most cookies altogether. Please note that doing so may negatively impact your experience using the Site, as some features, functionalities and services or portions on our Site may not work properly. Depending on your mobile device and operating system, you may not be able to delete or block all cookies. Deleting cookies does not delete Local Storage Objects (LSOs) such as Flash objects and HTML5. You can learn more about Flash objects — including how to manage privacy and storage settings for Flash cookies — on Adobe’s website or by clicking here. If you choose to delete Flash objects from our Sites, then you may not be able to access and use all or part of the Sites or benefit from the information and services offered. You may also set your email options to prevent the automatic downloading of images that may contain technologies that would allow us to know whether you have accessed our email and performed certain functions with it. You can also avoid tracking technology by not consenting to the use of tracking technology when asked for consent in cookie banners. Please note that doing so may negatively impact your experience using the Site, as some features and services on our Site may not work properly.
- ☐ Please note that this does not opt you out from being served ads in general. You will continue to receive generic ads.
- ☐ Google Analytics. Our Sites use Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. Google Analytics may collect information about your use of the Sites, including your IP address. Google Analytics uses cookies to provide information about visits to our Sites, including number of visitors, the websites from which visitors have navigated to our Sites, and the pages on our Sites to which visitors navigate. For information on how Google Analytics collects and processes data, as well as how you can control information sent to Google, review Google’s site here. You can learn about Google Analytics’ currently available opt-outs, including the Google Analytics Browser Ad-On here.
- ☐ Other third-party providers. We use other tracking technology such as: Hotjar
- ☐ Social Media Widgets. Our Site may include social media features, such as the Facebook Like button, Twitter, or other widgets. These social media companies may recognize you and collect information about your visit to our Site, and they may set a cookie or employ other tracking technologies. Your interactions with those features are governed by the privacy policies of those companies.

- ❑ Purchasers and third parties in connection with a business transaction. We may share your Personal Information with a third party in the event of any reorganization, merger, sale, joint venture, assignment, transfer or other disposition of all or any portion of our business, assets or stock (including in connection with a bankruptcy or similar proceeding).
- ❑ Other group companies. We may share Personal Information with our subsidiaries and other affiliates who are subject to this Privacy Policy or policies and practices at least as protective as those contained in this Privacy Policy, and to which it is reasonably necessary or otherwise legitimate for us to disclose your Personal Information in order to carry out the above-mentioned purposes.
- ❑ Law enforcement, regulators and other parties for legal reasons. We may share Personal Information with third parties as required by law or subpoena or if we reasonably believe that transmitting Personal Information is necessary for Compliance Purposes.

If you are in the EU, the legal basis for such processing is the performance of contract or our legitimate business interest as set out above. With regards to the Compliance Purposes, the legal basis is the compliance with legal obligations or legitimate business interest. In some cases, as indicated to you in each case, the legal basis may be consent.

5 INTERNATIONAL DATA TRANSFERS

We may transfer, disclose, store and otherwise process Personal Information we collect about you to other countries, in particular the United States where our headquarters are located and where the servers that we use are located. These countries may not have the same data protection laws as the country in which you initially provided your Personal Information which means that these countries may not provide the same level of protection for Personal Information as the country from which it was transferred.
